The trim little steamer Laurance will leave her float at 7 o'clock this evening with another excursion or outing in the cool river breeze for two hours, and it is one of the most enjoyable trips one can take. Clifford's Orchestra will furnish the music, and you get a two-hour ride, all the music you can listen to and all the good, sound enjoyment you can wish for—all for ten cents.

"Professor"—ah, y'ass, "Professor"—V. Friend, a French dancing master, who has been in Portsmouth for about a week organizing a dancing school, has disappeared, leaving an unpaid board bill and a large amount of other accounts. His disappearance occurred just before the arrival of officers from Ironton, who wanted him for a board bill and other claims that he owed in that city. It is believed that the "Professor" is now in Cincinnati.

David Kahn, who drove coaches over the Alleghenies before the advent of the railroads, died at Portsmouth, aged 94. He also operated a hack line between Portsmouth and Columbus for years, and frequently had for passengers some notable as General Jackson, General W. H. Harrison, Hon. Tom Corwin, President Tyler, Henry Clay, Thomas Benton and others. During the war, although beyond the age, he served as First Sergeant of Battery L, First Ohio Artillery.

Agnes M., bay mare, owned by James Hiett of Flemingsburg, won first money in the 2:30 pace at Catlettsburg Wednesday, and James W. Fitzgerald's Virginia Fox won second money in the 2:30 trot at the same place on the same day. The races at that place are not a drawing card by any means, there being a very small crowd present on the opening day.

Thomas Jackson, colored, was killed while out 'coon hunting with two other negroes, near Henderson. He wandered off from his companions and had climbed a tree in his efforts to dislodge a coon. One of his friends came up at the time, and seeing a moving object in the tree, fired a load of duckshot into Jackson's body, from which he soon died.

BASEBALL TODAY.

The Cynthiaana and Mayfield Will Play This Afternoon—Notes.

The Cynthiaana team arrived this morning and will play two games with the home team, today and tomorrow.

Cynthiaana has one of the strongest teams in the state.

Captain Wadsworth will have to get together his best nine to win this afternoon.

The game will be called at 2:30 p. m. The management of the locals has put the club under a big expense in securing the new acquisitions.

Every lover of the National pastime should appreciate this fact and lend their presence to the game this afternoon.

NOTES.

Tickets for the game today can be secured at Nelson's.

Wadsworth or Bruner will twist for Mayfield this afternoon, more probably Wadsworth.

The two teams that play this afternoon are evenly matched, and the contest promises to be a lively one.

The Frankfort team played at Mt. Sterling the other day and the audience got funny and addressed them as "convicts" and "jailbirds."

The Versailles team disbanded last Monday. Lexington grabbed the Reams, two of Versailles' best players. Davis, the catcher, went to Frankfort.

Boydland, who twirled for the Georgetown here last week and was almost knocked out of the box by a boy, pitched a game against Frankfort Thursday, and Georgetown won by a score of 4 to 3.

Lexington tackled the great St. Louis Browns Thursday and beat them by a score of 8 to 5. St. Louis put Clarkson, the team's best pitcher, in the box. He was knocked out in two innings. Hawley, who succeeded him, fared little better.

Mt. Olivet had a chance to try her new fire engine yesterday. While running to a small stable fire in the suburbs, the engine, going down hill, got ahead of the men after knocking down and mopping up the earth with one of them. His name could not be learned, though fortunately he was not seriously hurt. The fire loss was small.

Brookbridge Meeting. The K. C. R. H. will sell tickets to the coming of Dr. Berry of Chicago, Editor of The Epworth Herald, which has the largest circulation of any religious paper in the world, is anticipated as one of the most important visits during the twenty-one years history of the Ruggles Campmeeting.

ALL TORN UP. A Democrat Who Won't Vote For an Irishman. The Democrats of Fayette county met at Lexington to elect a Chairman of the County Committee, but adjourned deadlocked until next Wednesday, when they will try it again.

Messrs. B. J. Welsh and E. P. Farrell, respectively Breckinridge and Owens men, were put in nomination and several ballots resulted in a vote of 12 to 13.

There are thirteen members of the committee, but Mr. Connell, who is probably a Frenchman who has expurgated the "O," and the only settler on the committee, it is said, refused throughout to vote for Welsh and Farrell, on the ground that he would not vote for an Irishman.

HOW IT'S DONE. The Way in Which Specie is Carried Across the Sea. The specie locker on an ocean steamer is a carefully constructed vault, and is located in the stern immediately over the screw. It has the shape of a half oval, following the contour of the side of the vessel, and is about six feet in its extreme from top to bottom. Some vaults are fifteen or twenty feet in length, fore and aft. The interior is reached by a door or hatchway from the top, just large enough to give convenient access. This door is studded and has a combination lock, which is known only to the purser. Over this hatch is also fastened three bars of steel two and half inches thick, which swing at one end on hinges, and are locked and bolted at the other. The locker, it will be seen, is in the most suitable location in the ship away from the screw and cannot be tampered with, as on three sides of it is the sea. The purser receives the gold, carefully examines the seals, then checks off the weights, and assumes the responsibility for it. Gold is shipped in bags holding $5,000, or in kegs of $50,000. When in bars the size varies. Silver generally weighs 125 pounds to the keg.

RIPLEY SHOE FACTORY. It Made Money Under Harrison and Lost Under Cleveland. The Georgetown News Democrat says the Ripley Shoe Factory venture has not been unprofitable, but disastrously so.

As to the situation and condition of the affairs of the company, the following taken from the petition filed in the Clerk's office, will fully explain:

In November, 1891, the authorized capital stock of the Ripley Shoe Manufacturing Company was increased from $15,000 to $25,000, of which $25,000 has been fully paid in and said stock is now owned as follows:

Chambers Bird, 117 shares.....$11,700
Hennricher, 40 shares.....4,000
G. E. B. Bach, 2 shares.....200
W. S. Drago, 30 shares.....2,000
J. M. Trim, 10 shares.....1,000
M. L. Kirkpatrick, 3 shares.....300
A. Grobenbacher, 3 shares.....300
G. G. Bambach, 2 shares.....200
D. A. Spinks, 2 shares.....200
J. C. Liggett, 2 shares.....200

Total.....$22,700

There is a rumor to the effect that as soon as matters of the old firm can be adjusted a new company will take hold and operate it.

It is claimed that the business paid handsomely the first year and that the losses were incurred the second and third years.

There is a slowness to locate the blame for the misfortunes of the enterprise, no one being able or desiring to be responsible for any statements derogatory to its management.

Lawrence Smith, a respectable appearing young man of Chicago, is in jail at Louisville for sleeping with the wife of A. C. Hendricks, also of Chicago.

Growth of the Money Order System and Its Losing Operations. The anniversary of the establishment of the money order system in the United States, thirty years ago, takes place on November 1st.

At the beginning of the first year the total number of money order offices in the whole country was 419, and their transactions amounted collectively to only $2,000.

At the present time the number of money order offices is 17,957, and the total number of such orders issued in a year amount to 15,000,000. The amount of money transferred since the establishment of the system, and in addition to this sum $35,000,000 more changes hands in a year through foreign money orders. Eighteen million dollars a year is sent out of the United States in the form of money orders to other countries, and $7,000,000 a year comes into the United States through remittances from foreign countries. The net loss of the United States from this source is $11,000,000 a year. The remittances and receipts to Canada about offset each other—$1,500,000 each way.

France and Germany send back about one-third of what they receive; so do Switzerland and Austria. Australia and the islands of the Pacific, and more especially Hawaii, send back to the United States in remittance orders less than they take out of it, but the great discrepancies are to be found in Ireland, Italy and Scandinavia. The remittances to Ireland are six times as much as the receipts from that country. To Sweden and Norway is sent in a year $2,000,000; from them comes $200,000. To Italy is sent $1,500,000; from Italy comes $70,000. The transactions of the Money Order Department, which are an important feature of the Postoffice business, show a profit each year. About $1,000,000 is received in fees, and the whole expenses amount to about $500,000 a year.

It is a peculiarity of the finances of the Postoffice that as the business increases in volume the profits grow in the same proportion in even greater ratio, and but for the existence of a vast number of petty, unproductive Postoffices scattered throughout the South and far West the business of the Department, instead of entailing a small loss, would yield a very considerable profit. The Republican National Convention in 1888, in Chicago, declared for one cent postage.
